Unleashing The Power

By David Maxson

And he could do no mighty work there, except that he laid his hands on a few sick people and healed them. [Mark 6:5]

A science lesson: what is the difference between kinetic energy and potential energy? Potential energy is basically stored energy. The water sitting behind a dam is potential (or stored) energy.

Kinetic energy is the energy a body possesses because of its motion. So if potential energy is the water sitting behind the dam, then kinetic energy is what happens when you open the flood gates.

The power of Jesus Christ is like the water behind the Hoover dam. The Hoover dam's reservoir holds 9.2 trillion gallons of water, which has the potential of producing 2.8 GW of power (that's equal to roughly 3 nuclear power stations). That energy is never produced all at once. It flows through the dam only a little at a time. That's kind of the way we use Christ's power. We only let a little flow through us at any point and time.

But what if we were to open up the flood gates and release the power of Christ in our lives? What if we had faith to pray bigger prayers than we've ever prayed? What if we no longer resigned ourselves to spiritual mediocrity, but trusted in God's grace to overcome our strongholds? What if we finally decided it was no longer up to us and our own power, but rather we began to truly rely on Jesus Christ's power in our lives?

What if the immeasurable and inexhaustible potential energy of Jesus Christ became kinetic energy in 2015?

Now to Him who is able to do far more abundantly than all that we ask or think, according to the power at work within us, to Him be glory in the church and in Christ Jesus throughout all generations, forever and ever. Amen.
